Amy tells us a little bit about herself: "My college education led me to a degree in social work, however the majority of my career I worked in the capacity of administration and leadership with a focus on program development, project management & organizational management.

I am the Director of Customer Care Center Operations for a local home health care agency. I recently completed my green belt certification in Lean Six Sigma project management. In addition, to my professional career I volunteer my time doing community service through my board involvement for 2 local organizations. The most important treasures in my life are my family, my husband David and especially my 3 children; Brittany, Andrew and Jocelyn." (Amy is a member of the AST Office Staff.)
